Trumpet Holds Miniature Outfit

The Trumpet staff celebrated another year of successful endeavor with a picnic at Alleendale on the evening of Tuesday, May 21. It was about the best possible evening for such a celebration and the group of about twenty enjoyed the outing very much. The old but ever new supper contained the usual roasted wieners (which they were not burned), rolls, and marshmallows. From somewhere the efficient food committee had obtained some pie which really garnished the meal to the limit.

Afterwards, the editor-elect proposed the policy of the Trumpet for next year and handed out his own idea of the final issue of the current year.

THANKS! for the Fortress.

You may wonder why there are so many students flocking to the Fortress over books, well, for once they aren't text books! It is the Fortress that came out Wednesday, May 22, and the students are anxious to write their little forget-me-nots in each book.

Over two hundred have spoken so we can say it's really a success.

This popular year book's success is due chiefly to Eleanor Gross, editor, Signe and Sandrock, business manager, and the entire Fortress staff. Thanks to them we have a fine book.

FANATICISM . . . WHY NOT?

Those of us who have studied history remember the development of pietism within the various churches. Pietism originated in the seventeenth century in the German Lutheran church. Today it is more or less frowned upon by many Lutherans. "It is too dangerous, too emotional," say they. "It is likely to lead to fanaticism."

This sentiment is highly prevalent among the students on Wartburg campus. Many seem to feel that the only time they need to think and talk about Christ is in church on Sunday morning. Such students are too busy during the week, to attend church, Bible class, and prayer-fellowship on Sunday, going to church in their estimation.

"You know one can get too 'fanatical' about these things," they will tell you.

Students, if only a few more of us could get "fanatical" about Christ. After all He is all that we should live for. He is our Savior. To Him we must cling for salvation. Why not get emotional about Him?

Paul says, "In Him we live and move and have our being." If living a life in Christ and for Christ is being fanatical, would that we had more such fanatical students among us.

BEWARE THE WHIRLPOOL, "GRADS"

And so is graduated another class of Wartburg students. Most of them have been here at Wartburg four years. Yet enjoyable as college life was, it was not their purpose to come to college just to live for a time. They were preparing for a vocation, for the crossing of the stream of life.

College can be likened to a springboard which enables us to leap out into this stream of life to get a better start as we cross it. The waters are turbulent and the crossing is no easy feat for most people. But from the higher view of the springboard it is possible to get a better view of the stream and chart our course. From there we can see many of the dangerous whirlpools and plan to avoid them.

It is this springboard that our friends have used as a vantage point and which they are leaving now. They have laid their plans, they have charted their course.

Friends, the crossing is always easier with the guiding hand of Jesus to help you as you fight the waves of trouble. It is our prayer that He may be your pilot as you go.

As much as we may look fit, we are not a bunch of excubitors here. A "butch" haircut just seems to be the fashionable thing for boys to get nowadays. Everyday more and more of the good-looking men of Wartburg are shearing off their crowning glory and coming home looking like candidates for the German army. On some of the fellows this sort of a trim looks good, in fact, it improves the looks, but many of the boys leave the barber's chair looking more like a half-plucked chicken. They claim that they undergo this tonsorial mutilation just to lessen the job of hair combing. What severe cases of spring fever these boys must have. There is much comment and discussion on this question around Wartburg as the ranks of the "butchers'" grow by leaps and bounds with the advent of warmer weather. But to all this fluff and excitement, Professor Ottersberg just sits back and thinks, "It's nothing new to me."

As I look back over the past nine months, I'm sure that way down underneath, every last one of us feels that they have been nine months of enjoyment. There are days that slip under be forgotten. Yet our memories are full of tribulations. This and that went wrong; we found fault with many things, but what is life without its troubles. Some of us worked hard and then there were the others. We did have fun though. Last fall the ball started rolling with initiation, then came football, homecoming, outflit, basketball, start night, the Valentine party, baseball, mixed with countless personal affairs.

Now that exams are over, and it's almost time to go home, there doesn't seem to be as much enthusiasm about seeing the folks as there was last Christmas. We've made friends, people who we will never forget. It's going to be hard for some of us to say goodbye.

CONVICTED

Debaters Find Mac Guilty of Incompatibility.

The Debate club, Beta Lambda Lambda, held its last meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. R. McKinnis, advisor of the club.

The program consisted of a mock trial in which Mrs. McKinnis was charged with incompatibility. Prosecuting attorney, Raymond Kronberger, and defense attorney, Martin Leeseberg, battled the case victoriously before Judge Norman Orth. After cross examining many witnesses, chief among them being Coach Ralph McKinnis, the case was left in the hands of the jury composed of Karl Landgrabe, Edwin Schick, Vernon Strenpeck, and Erwin Franke. After about ten minutes of deliberation, the forming of the jury announced that a decision had been reached. To a hushed courtroom, then, the verdict was announced: "Guilty." The following sentence was suggested, and duly decreed by Judge Orth: Mrs. R. McKinnis, being convicted of the charge of incompatibility, should be sentenced to ten years in the reformatory at Rockwell, City, and should keep her head shaved. The sentence, however, was given on promise of good behavior, especially in the writing of grades. Lunch was then served by the Orehaia to "BHE" and "Sandy" for the Fortress. It is plenty O. K. Everybody expresses his complete satisfaction with it — even though we had to wait a couple of days for it.

A little observation and we discover that the junior-senior party failed to break up when the prexy and the deans thought it would. Nice spot, this "B—"

These little "affairs" around here have lasted longer than expected, but with the summer coming around — well, maybe next year we can beat these Lechnavars to the draw.

Now that "Bulch" haircuts have lost their fad, the boys are going in for big black cigars. Saw several of the boys at the "Club" the other night smoking them—condemned, after which impromptu stunts were presented by first the three seniors and then all the rest of the club. Coach Mac got out his ukulele and harmonica and the remainder of the evening was spent in singing favorite songs.

they all looked a little sick — but then maybe it wasn't the cigars!

With the finals worrying the boys, we hear the usual resolutions of really studying NEXT year and getting some good grades. Then too, there is the usual cramming for the test the next morning and the sighs of relief when another test is over.

Wish I had some real juicy bit of gossip to tell you, but it seems that the people around here are behaving themselves quite well.

I would like to go on record as formally suggesting that a few "crawling" jokes be planted around Old Main. A few vines would certainly improve things.

With this I wind up another column and step out of another "bull session." I hope to be with

WILL IRWIN ON 1940-41 LYCEUM

Author, Athlete,
Trail Blazer, Music
Artist Featured.

Will Irwin, noted author, editor, reporter and speaker, will be one of the leading features of Wartburg's 1940-41 lyceum series.

Dubbed "the ace of correspondents" by the French during the World War, Mr. Irwin is known the world over for his journalistic endeavors. He saw the World War straight through from the first week in 1914 to the last of the "lost" circumstances in 1920. His acquaintances range from the heads of foreign governments, noblemen and great figures in the arts to crooks and confidence men. He wears the decorations of four foreign governments.

Also featured on next year's lyceum series is Benny Friedman, well known athlete, who will lecture on sports from every angle. Mr. Friedman attended the University of Michigan and coached by the great Fielding Yost, developed into a football player and all-around athlete hardly matched in the history of sports.

Benny Friedman was quarterback on three great Michigan teams and All-American for three years. After graduation he became the manager of four professional football teams in Chicago, Detroit, New York, and Brooklyn. For the last four years he has been head coach at the College of the City of New York.

Music lovers should be delighted with Ruby Spencer and Her Continentals who will appear on the series. Miss Lyon, herself, a well-known opera, radio, and concert soprano, has assembled a group of stars for her continentals. Each member is a highly trained musician and an outstanding musician and radio outstander. Miss Williams, philosopher and humorist, blazed an international highway from Alaska to the United States by motorcycle. Mr. Williams left Fairbanks, Alaska, May 14, 1939 and arrived in Washington, Dec. 7, 1939. He has a story full of danger thrills and humorous situations to tell with some color film to be shown at the conclusion of his lecture if desired.

Also to appear during the coming year is the Chicago Opera Quartet.

No definite dates have been set for any of these lyceum numbers. All numbers are arranged by the Wartburg Lyceum committee of which Prof. A. W. Swensen is chairman.

"WE THANK YOU"

With this last issue of the "Trumpet" we bid welcome to our alumni members and guests at the commencement exercises and meeting of the alumni and former students. May the spirit of Wartburg prevail throughout the week.

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our gratitude to all who cooperated in the work of the Alumni Association during the past year. Special honors are due the editorial staff of the "Trumpet" for their very generous allotment of space to articles and news items of the Alumni Association. We hope that our alumni members will show their appreciation by subscribing to the "Trumpet" for the following year. This is one way of keeping in touch with your Alma Mater and with the alumni.

"W" CLUB HOLDS BANQUET MAY 24

Timnick Toastmaster;
Co-captains, Coaches
Speak.

The W club held its annual banquet at the Hotel Fortner Friday evening, May 24, with a large attendance of guests present. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Chellebold, Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie, and Mr. Baerman. Andrew Timnick acted as toastmaster.

The program consisted mainly of short talks by the various athletes and coaches. John Emmert, first speaker of the evening, emphasized the value of high morale and confidence as the key to success in any athletic team in the running. Norm Augst also commented on the necessity of carrying around a little influence, other athletes, and the responsibility of the athletes participating.

The co-captains-elect, Richard Wagner and Rudolph Langlosh, spoke on the necessity of carrying around a little influence, other athletes, and the responsibility of the athletes participating.

The assistant coach, Mr. Baerman, then gave a short talk in which he mentioned having seen a lot of athletes in the past. Coach McKinnie in his speech emphasized that the W club plays an important role at Wartburg. He went on to say: "Life is a race and you graduates have passed your last mile at Wartburg, but there is much more ahead. A team learns by losing more than by winning, although both are essential to building a good team. I hope you can take something for life that you have learned during your athletic career here that will make you the better man when you face life. A well-balanced life is the ideal and goal of the athlete, and may be a portion of the same be your reward." Coach McKinnie challenged the other members to return next year and give their athletes a better built and better squad to bring home, vigor, and determination in its fullest bloom.

The final speaker was Mr. Chellebold, member of the athletic committee. He pointed out that the athletes have made a contribution to the school since his own day of participation, and he gave an interesting account of his own earlier playing days. He said: "The purpose of the club is to further good sportsmanship." The guests and members present were then invited to the McKinnie home for the remainder of the evening.

Violent Ship of Des Moines visited with Veronica Hanff for a few days this week.

Warrant, Fruchling, Wartburg '39, of Talmadge, Nehr, has been visiting the campus during the past few days.

DUB'S DIARY

Sunday, May 19—Awoke to find Sir Roommate's bed undisturbed and student in bed. After a hurried examination found that Sir Roommate and brother had been spending the night at the Sand Rock-Cornell establishment, arising at an early hour and retreating into the wilds of Minnesota. However, the lost sheep was back in the fold this evening amid great rejoicing.

Monday, May 20—And so, this day we had more elections. Being the first speaker of the evening, I was very shy. To make matters worse I was faced with a boring roll of candidates whose number did seem endless. Me thinks the list of candidates for the coming year is too long to be put to the total enrollment at Wartburg. Did like a true Knight I did not rise and squarely and vote right down the list. All of which may account for those really lively squares before my eyes in the morning. I had a few spots. I could play checkers.

Tuesday, May 21—The day did have an interesting twist. I found the ante meridian exceptionally dull. The Peacocks, who really did not impress me as being a success plumage (my pet rooster at home is given) did find our boys in a fitting role. The game did end in the usual manner, and being unable to bear the thought of being back to the campus and thence to a very enjoyable Trumpet picnic. The evening ended happily, since I did not have to make a speech. At Mr. Mall's vehicle seemed to be somewhat allergic to pines and suffered an attack of saturnine all the way.

Wednesday, May 22—The open day with the election of the Fortness editor. Methinks I do not regret that all politicians are not as quiet and unassuming as the candidates at Wartburg. In fact, the Wartburg candidates are the very Sphinx to hide his face. The Fortness did arrive to find the Old's and Mr. A's.

Thursday, May 23—Do believe that there are more hidden men than I had previously suspected. Everyone seems to have blossomed out with an annual and is busy engaged in exchanging witty written comments. And thus it seems to me that the Fortness is worth several times its cost, when I see the many happy expressions which have been nurtured by a few kind statements. Alas! I do regret that we reserve them for the Fortness autographs alone.

Friday, May 24—The day doth hold a special glow for me this day of days, since I once more went my way pointed to the future by my ancestral alone. Friend roommate doth promise to follow at a respectful distance owing to the fact that he has alighted his two cloak cases sufficiently to make further neglect unhealthful. An efficient thing, as all that he will require to follow, however. Good-bye, dear diary until I return. Were I not traveling light it would be possible for you to accompany me.

Monday, May 27—Did return to find the campus in a state of blissful quiet. Methinks I may have been caused by the baseball team's week-end success. But it is more logical to attribute it to the impending examinations. I do find myself facing one on the morning, and Friend Roommate's excellent smoked fish do not seem to fill that hollow place that I feel as I anticipated. Perhaps the vacuum is located somewhat higher.

Tuesday, May 28—It was a joy to see the happy expressions that greeted this day as the bookies did follow in F. D. R.'s footsteps by priming the pump a bit. Money did circulate rapidly for a time but soon found various resting places, and the temporary boom of prosperity subsided. The usual state of economic depression exists tonight.

Wednesday, May 29—It is really strange to note the consternation caused by a session of examinations in a place where such things are but to be expected. Alas! I did not step too jauntily, myself, this a.m., as I made my way back after being on the reservation of Prof. Ottensberg's fireball. The man doth have a vivid imagination.

Thursday, May 30—Memorial day—bringing relief from the bombardment of questions and a

I have always longed for the life of a cosmopolitan, but have never ventured out of the state. I thought myself exceedingly adventurous when I came to Wartburg, and have indeed had an exciting time of it.

Brault Calls For New Members

A plea for new members is being made by the Dramatics club, according to E. J. Brault, president, for the coming season. A new constitution has been put into effect this year and one of the chief features is that members are to be voted into the club instead of just being taken in. A plan is to be put into effect next year to put on three major productions. Also efforts will be made to have a supply of plays to be given for Luther League church functions etc. Dean Neumann has been chosen the director for the coming year.

PEACOCKS TAKE KNIGHTS AGAIN IN CLOSE GAME

Petersen Gives Up But 7 Hits; Meets Match in Miller.

Except for a hectic fourth inning in which the Upper Iowa Peacocks scored four runs on two hits and three errors, the Wartburg Knights held their own against their highly-louted arch-rivals from Fayette in an Iowa conference baseball game played at the Waverly municipal field on May 21. The Knights, garnering only four safes, were unable to cross the plate and lost 4-0 in the second meeting of the two teams this year.

Marvin Petersen, ace hurler for the Knights, proved capable of keeping the clothing line of the Peacocks. He gave up seven hits, one of them a double, struck out six batters and credited Upper Iowa with no earned runs.

His work was, however, outdistanced by Miller, twirler for the Peacocks. Miller proved to be everything a pitcher should be. He gave up only four hits, struck out 15 Knights, got three hits in four trips to the plate, and completed a double play unassisted.

Petersen had complete command of the game for the first three innings, but the fireworks started in the fourth. Riddle, the first man up, reached base on an error by Ihnen. Carter followed by reaching first on an error by Emmons. Miller proved to be advanced both men on bases. Emmons let Schuler's hard-hit error drive go through him to score. Alderson, Caswell struck out but Miller hit a single to score Schuler. Buell fired out to center field to end the inning and the scoring for the game.

Wartburg's only scoring chance came in their half of the fourth inning. Ihnen flied out to short, but Kappmeyer followed with a clean single. Leschenky set up a swell scoring chance when he stepped in advance Kappmeyer to third. On the next play Leschenky tried to steal second. The catcher nipped him, with his throw to second, but Kappmeyer decided to remain on third instead of coming home with what should have been a sure run. Emmons then struck out to end Wartburg's

CAP'N ONTKE

Ontke Ihnen, junior from Clare Iowa, was recently elected by his teammates to serve as captain of the 1941 edition of the Wartburg Knights of the diamond. In that position he succeeds Bill Kappmeyer who piloted the Knights this year.

Ontke came here as a freshman and has had three years' experience playing second base for the Knights. His athletic ability was also utilized in basketball last year as well as during the 1939 season.

A pre-theological student intending to enter the Wartburg seminary after his graduation Mr. Ihnen has chosen English as his major. He expects to receive his B. A. next spring.

KNIGHTS HAVE LUCKY NINTH; TAKE WALDORF

By Luther Meyer

A fumbled ground ball in the last half of the ninth inning threw away the game for Waldorf and gave Wartburg her third win, 5-3, Saturday, May 25. In the ninth inning two Wartburg runs scored to tie up the game at four all, with Petersen and Schaffer coming across the plate with the tying runs. In the last of the tenth inning Langholz led off with a single, went to second on an over-throw at first by Shinner and galloped home with the winning run when Kalkwarf singled.

The game was a loosely played contest all the way. Wartburg making six bingles and Waldorf kicking the horseshoe around five times. Petersen twirled just the way and was credited with the win, his third of the current campaign. Shinner also had the entire game and was charged with the loss. Petersen was touched for only four hits while the Knights reached Shinner for seven.

Waldorf started the scoring with one run in the first inning on a single, an error, and a sacrifice hit. Wartburg promptly came back with two runs in their half of the first on a walk to Ihnen, a fiddle's choice Leschenky, a blazing triple which scored Kappmeyer and Emmons' long fly to center. Shinner led off the third and Kuehnast was hit by the pitcher and reached home on two Knight errors.

Again in the sixth Waldorf struck fire to bring a tally across the plate when Carsten was hit by the pitcher and scored on another error and a hit. In the first of the ninth Salvig got a hit, stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and went home on an error to finish the day's scoring for Waldorf. Wartburg didn't strike pay dirt until the ninth, when they made two runs and put the game on ice in the last of the tenth with the winning tally.

Marvin Petersen, sophomore, piecing sensation from Rockwell, Iowa, recently completed his role as first string pitcher for the Wartburg Knights.

During the past season, Petersen pitched seven out of the eight Wartburg games with credited with four victories and three losses. Two of the losses were made to Upper Iowa, the conference champs.

In the seven games he hurled, Petersen allowed a total of 31 safe hits for an average of 5.8 hits per game. Twenty-two opponent runners crossed the plate while he pitched. Several of the runs were unearned, however.

Marvin this year completes his two year pre-engineering course at Wartburg and will not be back to hurt the horseshoe for the Knights next year.

WITH E. A. SCHICK

A new title, a different writer! Yes, a new but bewildered homo sapiens is occupying a sports editor position as a result of two years work as a sub reporter. Yes, a new sports editor will present for your knowledge and enjoyment true synopses of sports events for the ensuing year. The helm which has been ably guided by the willing hands of such eminent sages of the sports world as Freddie and Sir Roland has been turned over to a new man—a new man who is confronted with the task of maintaining a high standard of sports writing and a man who will do his best trying to be equal to the task.

Yes sir, folks! This marks my debut as official sports editor for the Trumpet. Even though I am hardly in a position to hand out free cigars or to make the rounds kissing babies, I extend to you a most hearty welcome to become regular readers of our sports page, to join the ranks of the Americans to whom athletic events are an inherent part of everyday life. Here's hoping you'll enjoy reading about Wartburg's athletes as well as you enjoy reading about athletes elsewhere.

Platform

In the political world it is common to base a campaign upon various planks of a platform. The procedure is here slightly reversed but, I believe, a mention of the policies which the Sports Department intends to follow would not be far amiss.

First, we intend to give you accurate reports of all Wartburg sports events.

Secondly, we will try to include in this column information concerning athletic events of other Iowa Conference schools.

Third, opinions about pertinent questions will be honored in this column; so if you have an opinion, based upon facts, of course, bring it around and we will give it due consideration.

Knights of the Diamond.

Beating the Waverly Bears 1 to 0 on Memorial day the Knights closed their baseball season with four wins and four losses. Most of the victories, however, were scored against non-conference teams.

Mary Petersen certainly proved that Wartburg could produce pitching capable of stemming the hitting prowess of Iowa Conference schools. Even though he was charged with the loss Pete set the conference champs (Upper Iowa) down with no earned runs—a record not to be scoffed at.

A decided weakness at bat, however, proved to be the downfall of the Knights throughout the season. The Knights had a team average of .135 at the plate for the season. They were at bat 236 times and safely hit the ball only 46 times. The 46 hits were good for 22 runs.

Conference Champs.

Four conference champs repeated their classy performances this spring. Upper Iowa retained their baseball supremacy by losing only one conference game.

Simpson, defending champion, clinched first place at the conference track meet.

Peterson, Dubuque tennis singles champion, again set a blistering pace this spring to keep possession of the championship crown.

Don Menning, classy athlete from Central, again proved that he was the best all-around athlete in the conference when he won the decathlon meet at Dubuque for the second consecutive year.

A Word for the Coach.

An interesting opinion of 'a man who knows' was recently expressed to the writer. A referee at some of our basketball games, a man who follows athletics at Wartburg very closely, a man who coaches athletics himself wrote this bit of correspondence expressing a sentiment disregarded by the people who think of athletics only in terms of wins and losses. The writer was thinking of Ralph McKinzie, head coach at Wartburg for the past two years, when he wrote: "I would certainly like to see Mac with some even fairly good material next year because anyone who can maintain the spirit he did in his squads in the face of constant superior opposition really has something on the ball. In my estimation the biggest job a coach has to do is to build and keep morale, and I never knew a man who could do that as well as he has done at Wartburg under the handicaps he has had to battle constantly. He may have a poor record on paper but he is a coach's coach. He deserves more credit than Andersen, Koch, and a lot of other successful coaches and I sincerely hope he meets the results he deserves next season."

That opinion, and it certainly is a just one, should be considered by all of us when forming our opinions. Athletics consist not of wins and losses alone.

KNIGHTS COME THROUGH IN 7TH TO WIN THRILLER

Petersen Holds in Pinches; Gambaiani Gives Up Two Hits.

By Luther Meyer

Head hitless for six and one-third innings, the Wartburg Knights came through with two hits and a stolen base in the last half of the lucky seventh to win a keen pitchers' duel 1-0 between Mary Petersen of Wartburg and John Gambaiani of the Waverly Bears at the City Athletic field on Memorial day afternoon. Emmaus' single, his stolen base, and Rudy Langholz's single won the game, and best Gambaiani, who went the entire distance and gave only two hits. Hurling the entire game Mary Petersen gave eight hits but was tight in the pinches. Three empty double plays by the Wartburg infield helped Petersen out of crucial moments.

Petersen struck out three men and walked two, while Gambaiani fanned five Knights and walked two.

The Wartburg infield clicked as never before, and the three double plays they performed fairly took away the breath of the spectators. The game was Petersen's fourth win of the current campaign.
